Gary and Sandra Fuller received a rate reduction of 3.25% on their mortgage. Owing $141,000 on a home that had lost value, this retired couple was unable to manage their mounting bills and mortgage payments and considered foreclosure. United Law Group made it possible for them to continue to live in their home.

Irvine, CA (Vocus) May 6, 2009 -- United Law Group, the leading provider of legal foreclosure prevention and foreclosure litigation services today announced that it prevented foreclosure on the home of Gary and Sandra Fuller of Globe, AZ. The couple retained the services of United Law Group in February of 2009.

"I retired from the Globe School District where I was a custodian for a number of years after I left the copper mines," said Gary Fuller. "My wife retired on medical disability from the copper mines. Living on a fixed income with increasing expenses, there wasn't anything left after we paid our bills each month."

With their home value plummeting and their bills mounting, the Fullers faced a decision that countless others from small towns and big cities across the country face: accept foreclosure or find a solution to their financial dilemma.

"The process was intimidating and a bit overwhelming," said Mr. Fuller. "United Law Group simplified things and helped us to prevent foreclosure by working with the bank to reduce our interest rate and our payment."

Previously the couple paid $1,351 per month. Their new payment of $892 will enable them to pay their bills and begin paying down their debt.

"Though the Fullers weren't behind on their payments, the couple was struggling to make ends meet," said Sean Rutledge, Managing Director for United Law Group. "They came to us at the right time. Leveraging our experience and working relationships with mortgage lenders we helped them avoid the common pitfalls that many homeowners encounter while trying to work things out directly with their lender."

United Law Group screens prospective clients by performing a thorough assessment of their finances and analyzing the lender's loss mitigation guidelines. The firm negotiates directly with the lender to obtain the best possible solution in each case through a variety of loss mitigation strategies.

About United Law Group
